

BREED MAINE COON

GENERAL Originally a working cat, the Maine Coon is solid, rugged, and can endure a harsh climate. A distinctive characteristic is its smooth, shaggy coat. A well proportioned and balanced appearance with no part of the cat being exaggerated. Quality should never be sacrificed for size. With an essentially amiable disposition, it has adapted to varied environments. The Maine Coon is a large breed with big ears, broad chest, substantial boning, a long, hard-muscled, rectangular body and a long, flowing tail, and large feet with tufts.

HEAD	SHAPE	Medium in width and slightly longer in length than width with a squareness to the muzzle. Size in proportion to body. Allowance should be made for broadening in older studs. Cheekbones high.
	EYES	Large, slightly oval, appear round when wide open. Outer corner of eye points toward outer base of ear. Distance between the eyes is approximately one eye-width apart. Eyes color: Any shade of green and/or gold. No relation to coat color. Blue and odd-eyes accepted in white and van/ harlequin/ bicolor.
	EARS	Large, well furnished, wide at base,tapering to appear pointed by the enhancement of lynx tips. Taller than the width at base but still in balance with head length. Outer base just above the level of the top of the eye. Outside edges have a very slight outward tilt, not past 11 and 1 o'clock. Distance between inner ear edges is approximately one ear's width apart. Furnishings extend beyond outer ear edge. Lynx tips maintain the balance of the ear without heaviness or droop. Slightly larger and/or tighter-set ears in kittens. Lower ear set in heavily jowled, fully mature males. Wider ear set in fully mature adults are allowed
	PROFILE	Gently curving forehead. Proportionate to the overall length of the head and should exhibit a slight concavity when viewed in profile. Relatively smooth and free of pronounced bumps and/or humps. A profile that is straight from the brow line to the tip of the nose is not acceptable, nor should the profile show signs of having a "break" or "stop." In profile view of entire head structure (back of head to tip of nose), balance is critical.

MUZZLE/ CHIN

The muzzle is visibly square, medium in length and blunt ended when viewed in profile. It may give the appearance of being a rectangle but should not appear to be tapering or pointed. Length and width of the muzzle should be proportionate to the rest of the head and present a pleasant, balanced appearance. Distinct transition between muzzle and cheek bones.

The chin should be strong, firm and in line with the upper lip and nose, wide and deep enough to complete square look of muzzle. When viewed in profile the chin depth should be observable and give the impression of a square, 90-degree angle.

BODYTORSO

Large, substantial, rectangular, equal in breadth from shoulders to hips. Broad chest. Level back. The body should be long with all parts in proportion to create a well-balanced rectangular appearance with no part of the anatomy being so exaggerated as to foster weakness. Females may be noticeably smaller than males. Allowance should be made for slow maturation.

LEGS AND FEET

Legs substantial, wide set, of medium length to form a rectangle with the body, and in proportion to the body. Forelegs are straight. Back legs are straight when viewed from behind. Paws large, round, well-tufted. Five toes in front; four in back.

TAIL

At least as long as the body. Wide at base and tapering to tip with full, flowing fur.

MUSCULATURE

Substantial, powerful.
